

Legallais

Founded in 1889, the company acts as a one-stop-shop for general building and housing finishing works (building products, consumables, tools, plumbing products, electricity products,...), with an extensive and high quality product offering for craftsmen, building operators and maintenance companies. These clients are being served through multiple distribution channels such as direct sales, online channels and Legallais' own points of sale. Both product availability as well as an automated and efficient logistics service (with next day delivery) have resulted in an excellent customer service which continuously drives customer satisfaction.
