Gimv sells shareholding in Clear2Pay

Gimv sells its shareholding in Clear2Pay (Belgium) to the American investment fund Aquiline Capital Partners. This sale takes place in the context of a larger capital operation of Clear2Pay in which it raised EUR 50 million and attracted Aquiline as new investor.

Clear2Pay (www.clear2pay.com) develops innovative payment technology for financial institutions, aimed at the safe, timely and smooth processing of internal payment traffic. Founded in 2001, the company currently has 450 employees in 15 offices worldwide.

Gimv is shareholder of Clear2Pay since 2006, when it invested EUR 4.7 million in a first financing round totalling EUR 15.7 million. Gimv also invested in following capital rounds. The sale has a positive impact of EUR 2.2 million (EUR 0.10 per share) on Gimv's last published equity value at 30 September 2009. No further financial details on this transaction will be disclosed.

Aquiline Capital Partners Leads €50 million Investment Round in Clear2Pay

Clear2Pay Positioned to Expand its Global Payment Services Business Through Strategic Acquisitions

NEW YORK and BRUSSELS, December 7, 2009 - Aquiline Capital Partners LLC ("Aquiline"), a New York-based private equity firm investing in the financial services sector, today announced that it has led an investment round in Clear2Pay NV ("Clear2Pay"), a financial services technology company that delivers global solutions for secure and timely electronic payments. The investment, which also includes funds from current Clear2Pay investors, will provide the company with €50 million to fund its next stage of growth and potential strategic acquisitions.

The payments technology industry is a large and growing market with a multi billion dollar revenue opportunity. Many banks, processors and clearing houses are currently working with legacy payment silos that are proving inefficient and outdated in the face of shifting industry dynamics such as globalization, consolidation, regulatory change and Eurozone harmonization.

Clear2Pay is a unique, one-stop-shop for flexible, scalable and cost-efficient global payment solutions. The company offers its clients the modern architecture and software necessary to accommodate all of their payment systems and modify their market propositions efficiently.

"With financial institutions looking to streamline their operations, comply with changing local regulatory requirements and maximize revenue in the current financial environment, the demand for innovative payment systems has increased," said Jeff Greenberg, Chief Executive of Aquiline. "Clear2Pay is a profitable business and has the best growth potential in the industry because of its experienced management team, next generation technology, strong customer relationships and proven ability to integrate strategic acquisitions."

"We have built an industry leading platform from the bottom up and have always concentrated on sound financial funding with relevant and knowledgeable investors," said Michel Akkermans, Chairman and CEO of Clear2Pay. "We look forward to continuing to bring solutions to our clients through our ongoing commitment to research and development."

Clear2Pay Co-founder and CFO Jurgen Ingels added: "Aquiline's financial services expertise will be valuable as we evaluate acquisition opportunities, accelerate our geographic expansion, grow our client base and broaden our product offerings."

The investment is expected to be consummated by the end of this year and is subject to customary closing conditions.
